It's sad, but far too many people dismiss the fact that they're damaging their skin on a regular basis. Whether they realize it or not, proper skin care is imperative for anyone who plans on looking nice for any extended amount of time. As the years pass by you'll certainly notice your skin going through a few changes. It's not as tough and resilient as you may think. It's up to you to make sure it gets the nourishment it requires. This entails proper cleansing, moisturizing where needed, and protection from the sun's damaging UV rays.

How do you cleanse your face on a daily basis? What do you use to scrub away that dirt and grime? Do you moisturize? Now, these are just basic skin care questions that everyone should answer and follow. In addition to these practices, you always want to make sure you use the appropriate product to keep your skin's health.

If you are looking for a university proven skin care product that works for all skin types, try including Topical Niacinamide Serum on your daily skin routine. Just to give you an idea, not only will this serum help with acne blemishes and dry skin, it can also help improve the overall appearance of your skin.

"Our skin is probably the most taken for granted body part," explains Mr. Paul W., a skin condition expert, "We need to understand that it also needs the right cleansing, exfoliating and moisturizing to keep it healthy. Sometimes we also encounter acne and other skin infections so it is best to have a product that is proven to be effective for all skin types."
